Tim LaHaye, who conceived the idea of the Left Behind series, is a former pastor, educator and Family Life speaker. He is also the president and founder of Family Life seminars. He lives in Southern California.Jerry B. Jenkins has written a dozen New York Times bestsellers. His repetoire includes fiction, nonfiction, and books for children. He and his wife, Dianna, live in Colorado and have three grown sons and one grandson.

The series of Christian novels about the Rapture--the Left Behind Series--has inspired many readers to change their lives by committing to Christianity. In this program, some of their remarkable stories are offered, along with references to the apocalyptic Bible scripture that warns us to find Jesus so that we will be saved when the world ends. These stories, touching and dramatic without being sentimental, are drawn with spare and beautiful language. They’re satisfying to hear in spite of the grittiness of the content. The tone and message of this material are supported well by narrator

Will miss series.

This was a good book to read that goes with the Left Behind series. It really touches your heart and makes you want to be one that is not left behind.

I have read every book written by Tim LaHaye and this book lives up to the standard he has established.

I was disapointed with the choice of stories here. I understand that, 'Jesus Freaks' testamonies, the book, is much better. I didn't like this but I do like the Left Behind fiction series.

I am one of the people in the book so we received a copy free! :)I truely wondered if people would really be interested in this so my wife and I read it together as a devotional and found many of the testimonies to be really touching. Some brought us to tears. We were giving glory to God for each one saved!It is inspiring, encouraging, and even convicting to see how God worked in each person's life and how many were witnesses to those who were saved.

The chapter of 'A Logger's Farewell' Mr.and Mrs. Kennedy attend our church. They are two of the most strongest people I know considering everything that has taken place. Their faith is a testimony to us here in the area. It was nice to see that God does work even in a really small town in Stevens County.

I love this book. The testimonies are real and very moving. I wasn't raised in a Christian home; I was raised in a false religion that destroyed my life. I became a Christian as an adult in my twenties and God restored and rebuilt my life. I love hearing/reading about how other people came to know Jesus as their Savior and how He has changed their life. This book is beautifully written by men, women, and teenagers from all stages and walks of life. It testifies to how God will meet us where we are, and take us farther than we could have ever imagined possible.
