Death In Zion National Park: Stories Of Accidents And Foolhardiness In Utah's Grand Circle

Synopsis

Morbid, but strangely fascinating accountsIn 2015, a group of seven hikers were killed when a sudden flood struck Keyhole Canyon in Zion National Park. Prior to that, the steep, narrow route to Angels Landing led to at least five fatalities. Numerous people have found that high, exposed places in Zion—such as rim trails—are bad places to be in lightning storms. Death in Zion National Park collects some of the most gripping accounts in park history of the unfortunate events caused by natural forces or human folly.

Customer Reviews

I live just a few miles from Zion in the early 1970s . I love the park. The stories are true.

Well written and engaging, really makes the reader appreciate Zion. Done just right for this series, just the right amount of background and research included in the stories, with nice touches of caring and humor where appropriate. Summary and guidelines at the end very helpful. There is a binding flaw (some wrong pages inserted by printers) which is being addressed, but that shouldn't stop anyone from getting the book.
